

ALPINE TALES 2015

CONSTRUCTION IS ACTION

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF CONSTRUCTIVISTIC THEORIES

We are delighted to invite you to Alpine Tales
The very first Winter School of Constructivist Psychology!

5-8 February 2015 – Pecol di Zoldo (BL), Italy

This proposal is targeted to all the PCP professionals (teachers, students, clinicians and researchers) interested in exchanging ideas and experiences on PCP theories and practices.

Alpine Tales is a "living" constructivist environment that allows teachers and students to exchange ideas and learn together, building connections and sharing resources to enrich our work. This edition of Winter School is going to be a residential experience where students and teachers share not only formative moments, but also other everyday activities.

The Winter School will take place over 4 days, offering a programme of workshops, practical learning experiences, open space technology and international supervisions.

There will be time to visit the surrounding area, to relax or to enjoy the local winter sports, socializing and exchanging ideas and interests in a more informal way.

The event will be held in

"Stella Battistella Moccia":

Alpine house in Pecol di Zoldo, (Dolomites mountains, UNESCO heritage site)
in the Veneto region of Italy at 1350 meters above sea level.

Address: Via Foloin n. 23, 32010 Pecol di Zoldo (BL)

In the Alpine house the activities are self-organized and the staff is not included, therefore all the Winter School participants are invited to contribute in the house managing.

Other possible accommodations might be the hotels nearby, for example Valgranda Hotel, Sporting Hotel or Garnì Hotel.

THE ACTIVITIES

Learning sessions run in the mornings or in the afternoons, with the other half of the day free for relaxation, exploration and winter sports. Evenings are available for a range of optional and student-led activities.

Learning activities will include:

Opens Space technology – experiments in group-centred learning

“What experiences I need to grow professionally through constructivism?”

ICP students and teachers

“Open Space Technology is one way to enable all kinds of people, in any kind of organization, to create inspired meetings and events. Over the last 20+ years, it has also become clear that opening space, as an intentional leadership practice, can create inspired organizations, where ordinary people work together to create extraordinary results with regularity.

In Open Space meetings, events and organizations, participants create and manage their own agenda of parallel working sessions around a central theme of strategic importance, such as: What is the strategy, group, organization or community that all stakeholders can support and work together to create?

With groups of 5 to 2000+ people -- working in one-day workshops, three-day conferences, or the regular weekly staff meeting -- the common result is a powerful, effective connecting and strengthening of what's already happening in the organization: planning and action, learning and doing, passion and responsibility, participation and performance.”

(Michael Herman)

Acting Voices & Acting Bodies

(Workshop of theatre techniques for the therapeutic relationship)

Eleonora Belloni (ICP student), Lorenzo Maragoni (theatre director)

“The workshop is a practical experience that lets the participants practice their skills of listening, talking and connecting with the others. Simple theatre exercises, involving the use of body and voice, will be the starting point to develop different perspectives on the therapeutic relationship in an unconventional and playful way.”

International Supervisions on Student’s Clinical Cases

Massimo Giliberto (ICP director)

These are just some of the activities that you are going to be able to take part on during Alpine Tales 2015. They will be integrated with the proposals of the participants.
